CELEBRITY HOGOSCOPES

This issue's celebrity birthday is Kermit the frog, who is 43 on May 23rd. My prediction for you, Kermie, is that you should avoid arguments with French chefs. You may find you haven't a leg to stand on!

If it's your birthday this month, you'll find that Scorpio the scorpion is moving in on your aspects. Beware of an encounter with a sting in the tail. Investment advice - Buy lots of soothing botty lotion.

MICHAEL PORKINSON MEETS

DR. FRANKENSWINE

Intrepid roving reporter Michael Parkinson went to Frankenswine castle, nestled above the small HAMlet of Porkstadt, to meet PIGdom's greatest monster maker!

M: Well, Doctor ...

F: No need to be so formal. You can call me SIR! and you will if you know what's good for you!

M: Er, yes, well, Sir ... how did you come to be a great scientist?

F: I began experimenting as a piglet. I used to pull the legs off flies, and try to sew them back on again. Trouble was, I could never find a needle small enough. Messy.

M: Yerk! What was your first scientific success?

F: At the age of 10, I brought a dead duck back to life. I taught him to sing, dance, and tell jokes. I believe that dear old Donald has become quite successful in show-biz, but it's a shame I couldn't get rid of his speech defect.

M: Do you think you are misunderstood?

F: Oh, yes. Just because I make big ugly monsters that like to pour boiling oil on villagers, people think I'm evil. But really, I have the heart of a sensitive artist. I keep it pickled in a jar on my desk.

M: Groo! Where do you get the ... gulp ... raw materials for your experiments?

F: Oh, the usual places. My servant, Gormo, raids butcher's shops, tripe factories, and graveyards. Of course, the fresher the flesh, the better the result, as we scientists say.

M: Y-yes, very interesting ...

F: By the way, YOU'VE got a very handsome set of trotters. Have you ever thought of making a small donation to science?

M: Erk! Well, readers, that's the end of this interview! 'bye, Doctor, I mean, Sir...

F: Come back! I want to show you my scalp collection!

HERBERT of the Rovers

Herbert, the greatest footballer ever, lies frustrated in a hospital bed. The boy genius, who played First Division football when he was six and played for England when he was eight, had his legs squashed in a freak accident with Henry the footballing elephant. Herbert watches as his team, Rotherham Rovers, are being slaughtered in the F.A. Cup at Wembley by steals Blackburn City.

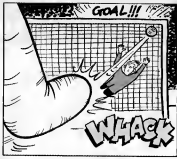

IF ANY OF YOU CHILDREN BUY OVER No.3, I MAY NEVER SPEAK TO YOU AGAIN!

To the fans' delight Herbert gets straight into the action...

OH WON! HE'S A GENIUS!

I'LL MAKE SURE HE WON'T SCORE AGAIN... AARGH! MY LEG! THOSE CARTOONS ARE HARD!

Herbert scores 8 more incredible goals and in the dying moments heads home the Nottingham wizard.

Herbert's proudest moment - he is presented with the cup.

Suddenly the floor, unable to take the weight of Herbert's plaster cast and swollen head, gives way and Herbert falls through.

WILD WEST ADVENTURE WITH CHAMPO THE WONDER HOSS

1/ Young Buck Shave of the Bar-b-que ranch came out onto the porch one day to find a present from a mysterious benefactor waiting for him. 'I wonder what it can be?' puzzled Buck.

2/ 'It was a magnificent black and white stallion! I'll take him for a ride out to Chad Valley!' said Buck.

3/ 'This is a truly intelligent crittur' thought our hero. 'It seems to know the way without being told!'

4/ 'Snakes alive, he's following someone's trail! This is a real wonder horse!' cried Buck in astonishment.

5/ 'More horses... this amazing horse must have led me to the hideout of a horse-nustling gang! I'll alert the Sheriff and get myself a reward for this!'

6/ 'No ya don't!' cried the wonder horse, bucking Buck, who bounced on his bottom. 'Tie him up, gang!'

7/ 'Great plan, Champo', said Bess the 9th 'using that sucker here so we could hold him for ransom.' 'It was easy, Bess', said Champo. 'Those humans always underestimate our intelligence! Why, we're always taking them for a ride! Ho, ho, ho!'
